Tom Gehrig is a Bay Area artist whose work is influenced by many genre, including the Tonalist School of California landscape painting. Tom's beautifully painted work references the human condition — the fact that we alter the surface of the planet in both strange and beautiful ways.

Tom received his BA at the California College of the Arts and MFA from Mills College. His work is nationally collected and represented by Gallatin River Gallery in Big Sky, Montana. He lives and works in San Anselmo, CA.
